A high naval source expressed doubt Sunday night that the submarine was in the gulf any longer because it had not been detected by sonar for

The navy has insisted continually that the submarine has been there all along, despite widespread skepticism growing out of two hunts in the last 21 months that failed to turn up evidence of any submarines.

There was no official con-firmation of a report that Argentine warships opened fire on the submarine and forced it to dive. There have been earlier reports of surface action. The navy confirmed one of them last week, but it never gave details.

The Whipping Boy

THE INSPIRING PRINCIPLES and complex formulae of Social Credit have shrunk, within the British Columbia Government, to nothing more than a shrill cry against what it calls tight money. But a Government skilled in the selection of whipping boys no doubt is making that cry effective among people who do not understand the meaning of money, tight or loose.

Thus it sounds fine when the Government blames its troubles on the monetary policies of the Bank of Canada and the cowardice of the federal finance department. If a municipality cannot borrow money, if a school cannot be built, if some desirable project is held up, Ottawa is held responsible, simply because it will not reduce interest rates.

How are interest rates to be reduced? The provincial politicians never tell us that openly but interest rates can be reduced, temporarily, only by an increase in the money supply-in fact, by the further inflation of a currency inflated by some 15 per cent, in eighteen months ending in October, 1958. This is what the provincial Government really means when it demands cheaper money. It can mean

To admit that, however, would be to admit that the Government is demanding more monetary inflaeven an inflation sufficient to drive down interest rates would not serve that purpose for long.

The currency was inflated solely to provide money for the purchase federal Government bonds in 1958 and by this desperate measure the bonds were sold, the nation financing its budgetary deficit by the printing press.

Strengthening World Court

FOR THE LAST 14 YEARS THE International Court of Justice has been hamstrung by a proviso, initiated by the United States, permitting certain nations to decide, in effect, whether or not they would accept the court's jurisdiction. A change appears in sight.

The right to refuse recognition was assumed by the United States in the Conally amendment stating that the court's authority did not apply "to matters . . . essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States as determined by the United States.'

Once the Connally amendment had been passed other countries— Mexico, France, Liberia, the Union of South Africa, India, Pakistan, the Sudan and the United Kingdom -adopted the same principle.

They could, by their decisions, recognize the court's jurisdiction hen they wanted to. But several of them have changed their agency requires to be effective.

Temporary Totals

TIME WAS WHEN YOU COULD confidently quote the population of Canada as so many million-10, say, or 12-and go on quoting it for several years knowing it had not changed. But that era of stability has gone. Nowadays you almost have to refer to an almanac to be sure of your statistic-the figure never seems to be the same when you look it up.

For a while 15 million seemed to be a good round total; we used it with a little exaggeration when 14 million would have been more truthful, and then again the following year. But suddenly it wasn't 15 any more, it was 16. And now it isn't 17 million any more, it's nearer 18.

The latest official computation sets our population at 17,678,000. But don't bother to memorize it— it won't be that for very long.

DRIME MINISTER DIEFENbaker has done well to remind Canadians that the celebration of Confederation's centenary should recognize Canada's past accomplish: ments as well as a reflect her hopes and aspirations for years to come

But while the people of this country may be prepared to make the occasion one of "rededication of our nation," is there any reason to suggest that it should not be an occasion for "fireworks, marching bands and public speeches?"

Why isn't it an occasion for fireworks and marching bands?

vantage of the good features nature contributed.

The Thetis Lake logging and power line fraternity might ponder this passage: "The National Capital Commission has bought eight thousand acres (three-quarters of them forest, in Gatineau Park, but still a lot of land). It has built miles of parkway, more than half urban, and will build at least fifty miles more . . . Three million tulips, crocuses and daffodils bloom each year in its seventeen hundred acres of urban parks

There is real money being spent there, in many cases just to attain what Victoria has in abundance but is rapidly losing. Wild areas, parklands, green belts—these are the assets sought by cities that are being consciously planned and often today they can be obtained only at great expense

Civic officials who fail to recognize this new approach to the layout of places in which people live are just behind the times. The Industrial Revolution belief that a city is a place where people gather to work is getting a little out of date. A city today is being recognized as not only a place in which to work, but also as a place in which to LIVE—and that calls for a new approach.

His tour has been, on the whole, a marked success. There have been dis-appointments—the fact that Dr. Banda has not, after all, been released; the slightly equivocal comments on Nyasa land's freedom to decide its own future

But, in general, it has been a good performance. Its most important impact has perhaps been in the Rhodesias, where political leaders have learned some home truths, delivered with cour-tesy and precision, which could hardly have been as well conveyed in any other Its greatest risks were run in the Union—and, particularly, in the memorable speech before the South African Parliament. Here the tone and content must have been the hardest to judge; and here, it must be said, some of us at home feel that his speech fell short of what was needed.

Consider his audience. He was addressing a group of men who with some honorable exceptions, have planned and executed a barbarous attack on the rights of others of their kind. In law these men have legislated inferior status and punitive control of movement, and occupation for their non-white fellow-

In indusour money) has been spent so far in try they have erected arbitrary obstacles trying to clear up the mistakes man made in building the city and take advantage of the good features are the country. In industry they have erected arbitrary obstacles to prevent non-whites from using their talents fully. In education they have to prevent non-whites from using their declared non-whites unfit to share premises with whites.
Their policy of baasskap apartheid

Against these facts Mr. Macmillan's speech must be judged. As a chiding it might have been appropriate in the Federation which at least occasionally tries to live up to its stated policy of 1 the permanent identification of whites with haves and others with have-nots, it was an inadequate indictment. Eritish Prime Minister had spoken the beliefs of the people of Britain about South Africa, it would not have been possible for his listeners to applaud at

Mr. Macmillan, of course, said a number of useful things: British pol-"will sometimes make difficulties "whether we like it or not this birth of African national cons ness is a political fact ... our national policies must take account of it", "we reject the idea of any inherent superiority of one race over another." And the speech was honest in the sense that it in no way contradicted what. Mr. Mac-millan had said elsewhere in Africa: nothing in it would have jarred had said it in Lagos.

But by creating the impression that, racial problems apart, Britain and South Africa were good friends Mr. Macmillan has probably left some dangerous illusions. The racial problems are too big to be set apart.

Common Qualities

Members of the Commonwealth have little to bind them together apart from common respect, common institutions, and, perhaps most important, an indefinable sympathy with the mainsprings of one another's beliefs and actions. It must, however, be obvious to all that one member is quite out of sympathy with the others

The Nigerian Prime Minister was recently wondering aloud how this institu-tion, which will be enriched by Nigeria's membership later this year, can hold both Africans and those who openly declare Africans to be of inferior race

Perhaps the Commonwealth has tried too little to define what its philosophy is intended to be. If it did, it would surely stumble straight away on the anachronism of South Africa's continued membership, and if it ever came to a choice between the young, progressive non-white members and the reactionaries of South Africa, there could be no doubt which it should choose. Mr. Macmillan seemed to imply that because we are both members of the Commonwealth we must be less forthright in our judgments. That is not so. wealth heritage, the co mon approach, can be over-emphasized in dealing with South Africa

Mr. Macmillan spoke of the immense material progress of South Africa. "We in Britain are proud," he said, "of the contribution we have made to this achievement." What achievement? And are we in fact, proud?

Age Best Bet To Beat Reps

Veteran Victoria rugby coach Alex MacDonald

Veteran Victoria rugby coach Alex MacDonald doesn't mind paying his dues.

That is, he doesn't mind admitting that Vancouver Reps have a pretty faney back field "To Alex's way of thinking, Vancouver's backfield is one of the best assembled in B.C. for some time. "Victoria's best chances of winning the McRechnie Cup."

MacDonald declared in a light vein after Reps defeated Victoria's Crimson Tide 27-3 Saturday, "is to wait for those guys (Vancouver's backfield) to grow old."

Snow Hits Bowie

(From AP Reports)

Amerigo, Bagdad and Tenacious charged down the stretch to win featured purses on U.S. tracks, but snow that swept Bowie also moved into racing's spotlight Saturday.

Racing at Bowie was called off after the fifth race because of a snow storm that began after the first race. Management at the Maryland track wasn't taking any chances of letting the storm strand customers. That's what happened when another storm struck Bowie almost two years ago to the day.

At Santa Anita, Willie Shoemaker gave Howard B. Keck's Bagdad a great ride in capturing the $57,500 San Antonio handicap.

FAVORITE SECOND

Bagdad outraced the favored First Landing in an exciting stretch duel. How Now was third in the field of 11 starters. Amerigo, the favorite, swept to a length victory in the $91, 950 Hialeah Turf Cup at Miami.

Amerigo, covering the mile and a half in 2.39 1.5 during a light drizzle held off the fast-closing Rafty, with North Pole II finishing third and Tudor Fra fourth in the ninehorse field.

In New Orleans, Tenacious came through with his usual charge in a muddy stretch run to win the $12,175 Lecomte handicap at the Fair

Ottawa Take Note: City Needs Heliport

The first landing at Victoria's proposed heliport was scheduled for loday.

Public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow and city engineer J. C. Garnett were to fly by helicopter from Patricia Bay Airport to the city's four-acre heliport site in the industrial reserve in a publicity stunt. Ald. Edgelow said the flight was intended to dramatize the need for federal government facili-ties at the site to "at least make it an emergency landing spot for helicopters."

The city's proposed heliport is on Alston Street, between the Johnson Street and Point Ellice

"It's going to take a long time to get it estab-lished as a full-fledged heliport so we may as well start campaigning now," said Ald. Edgelow.

Because Page 14 contained a most intriguing personality test, based on 12 jokes.

The idea was to mark "funny" or "not funny" opposite each of the 12 jokes, and this, according to the personality and ability testing eggheads of the University of Illinois gives unimpeachable clues to your character.

For instance, Jokes No. 1 and No. 9: "Readers who ecked these tend to be urbane and sophisticated. Readers who actually disliked them are apt to be naive," say the P.A.Ts of the U of I.

As I am always anxious to find out more about me I worked out the quiz, right down to the last joke.

Despite the fact they were all rather old jokes, some of them just about ready to enter the Old Jokes Home, I found them ALL funny, and took an active dislike to

NONE of them.

Downtown Duncan Threatened

By D'ARCY RICKARD Times Duncan Correspondent

A Sunday morning fire in Duncan gutted two stores in the heart of the up-Island city's shopping centre, threatened others, and caused damage estimated today at $100,000.

Wrecked were the Greenhaven Luncheonette and Stenmark's Jewellers Ltd., which occupied the ground floor of the two-storey Hudson Block, a frame building on Station

3-HOUR FIGHT

A 22-man Duncan volunteer fire department crew fought the blaze for three hours.

Herb Mould, a Duncan fire man, spotted the fire as he approached the city from the north of the Trans-Canada Highway at 4 a.m. and gave the alarm. The back rooms of the building had been burning for some time.

Firemen arrived on the scene at 4.06 a.m. and connected to four hydrants on Dun-can's main street. A North Cowichan municipal volunteer truck stood by and helped the fight by boosting water pressure with its pumping equip-

Going to a Baby Shower? You Should See These! By PENNY SAVER

I arrived in one downtown store this week just in time the laundry, and what woman seen for a long time. One of these was a set that contained a soft wrapping blanket, this was 27 inches by 36, a large terry towel and perky little foam rubber sponge duck. Blankets come either in blue, pink or yellow and towels are trimmed with borders to match. Ducks are colored to tone with blanket. Set sells for $1.98 and would make a perfect shower gift.

Another attractive item was the wrap-a-babe towel that sells at the same price. Of very fine towelling, it has a cesy hood and side flaps that completely wrap baby, giving that feeling of cosiness during those precious minutes of play after in the closet, and develop probthe daily bath.

Pupples, teddy bears, kittens and rosy apples dot sets of large towels and two face cloths that are selling at $1.98.
These would be a big hit with any young mother!

Baby's first toys will be fun if you get one of the novelty sets of squeeky toys, priced at 89 cents. Baby girls will love the pair of tiny baby shoes that come in blue, green or yellow and are tied with dainty bows of satin ribbon.

Pairs of tiny boxing gloves are available for little boys.

Coming in the same colors, these, too, are priced at 89 cents

Men's shirts, made in Italian la seta cloth, are now in good supply in a downtown store. This fine cotton gives the appearance of silk and washes like a dream! Shirts sold like byterian Church, tea and hom hot cakes last summer. Priced at $6.95 and $7.95, shirts are baking sale, Tuesday, 2 to in fleur de lis and other small designs and come in a variety of color combinations, including new olive and gold shades.

For names of stores where these items can be found give ary, Evening Branch, Tuesday, Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

A word with special meaning for truck men:

A truck is a combination of many complex components. Each component must be engineered to the highest standards of efficiency and endurance. All must be balanced to each other if the whole truck is to give year after year of reliable service.

International balanced truck engineering is the result of long, specialized experience in designing and building trucks.

Balanced truck engineering begins on the drawing board. Through every step of production-from design and testing of individual components to the final assembly of the whole truck-the practical needs of the Canadian truck operator are kept constantly in mind.

Result? International Trucks are built to work and built to last-because they are built by truck men.

Prince Philip today kept clear of engagements, and he will never be far from the palace Tuesday.

Sister Rowe attended Elizabeth on her two previous confinements when she was a princess. The nurse moved into Buckingham Palace four days before the birth of Prince Charles and into Clarence House seven days before the birth of Princess Anne.

A 79-year-old Yorkshire woman, Mrs. Lily Kenny, told reporters she would be outside the palace every day

2nd Craft Confuses Chasers

The impression here today that the mysterious submarine the Argentine navy said was trapped in Golfo Nuevo may have escaped.

DOUBT EXPRESSED

A high naval source expressed doubt Sunday night that the submarine was in the gulf any longer because it had ot been detected by sonar for 24 hours.

The navy has insisted confinually that the submarine has been there all along, de-spite widespread skepticism growing out of two hunts in the last 21 months that failed to turn up evidence of any sub-

There was no official confirmation of a report that Ar gentine warships opened fire on the submarine and forced it to dive. There have been earlier reports of surface action. The navy confirmed one of them last week, but it never gave details.

USE U.S. DEPTH CHARGES

Russia Taking Markets Sunday the navy launched what was declared to be a do-or-die "Operation Sinking" with powerful new depth charges brought Irom the United States.

As the hunt went into its 17th day, naval officials said their ships were being harassed by a second sub which had slipped through the guarded entrance to Golfo Nuevo in an effort to divert the chase from its apparently damaged companion.

The second sub confused the chase considerably. Officials said it would slip up close to a warship, then pull away on rapidly-changing courses when the surface craft set out in pursuit.

Ottawa Take Note: City Has Heliport

The first landing at Victoria's proposed heliport was scheduled for today.

Public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow and city engineer J. C. Garnett were to fly by helicopter from Patricia Bay Airport to the city's four-acre heliport site in the industrial reserve in a publicity stunt.

Ald. Edgelow said the flight was intended to dramatize the need for federal government facilities at the site to "at least make it an emergency landing spot for helicopters."

The city's proposed heliport is on Alston Street, between the Johnson Street and Point Ellice

"It's going to take a long time to get it established as a full-fledged heliport so we may as well start campaigning now," said Ald. Edgelow.

Downtown Duncan Threatened

By D'ARCY RICKARD

Times Duncan Correspondent A Sunday morning fire in Duncan gutted two stores in the heart of the up-Island 'city's shopping centre, threatened others, and caused damage estimated today at $100,000.

Wrecked were the Green-haven Luncheonette and Stenmark's Jewellers Ltd., which occupied the ground floor of the two-storey Hudson Block, a frame building on Station

3-HOUR FIGHT

A 22-man Duncan volunteer fire department crew fought the blaze for three hours.

Herb Mould, a Duncan fireman, spotted the fire as he approached the city from the north of the Trans-Canada Highway at 4 a.m. and gave the alarm. The back rooms of the building had been burning for some time.

Firemen arrived cene at 4.06 a.m. and connected to four hydrants on Duncan's main street. A North Cowichan municipal volunteer truck stood by and helped the fight by boosting water pressure with its pumping equipment.

The fire was held in a "smother-check" for about one-hour with doors and windows

The blaze, believed to have started in electrical wiring in the basement which runs under the two stores, was under control by 6 a.m.

Register Now For 'Kickback'

Duncan poultry producers, faced with "depression low" prices, have been advised to register immediately in order to get the federal government deficiency payment on eggs.

Speaking at a meeting of Cowichan Agricultural Society, J. A. F. Mutter, Cowichan Creamery manager and chairman of the CAS poultry committee, said the first payment will be made in March.

The scheme, started in October, allows the farmer to claim the difference between 33 cents per dozen and the average across Canada. It applies to production of large average across Canada. It applies to production of large eggs exceeding 4,000 dozen per year.

Registration is done at grading stations.

It was further reported that hog prices are low, and that potato prices are high "but no one has any to sell."

Stanley Owens, Cowichan Station, was elected to his third term as president. Other officers are Grant Loveseth, Somenos, and Matthew Moir, Glenora, vice-presidents, and William Barker, secretary-treasurer for his 14th year.

Named to the finance committee were D. B. O'Brien.
